I need it for Windows Server 2008 with IIS 7.5, the IIS 7.5 website runs on a different machine to the webservice running on that machine. Thanks A: If you're using the Microsoft Network Monitor, it can be used for packet captures on a network interface of the server. A: Wireshark is always a popular utility for capture of packets, but (unlike a packet sniffer of the "real" variety) it must be installed on the target machine(s). We use it at work, and it is quite good at capturing all sorts of things from client->server over HTTP. Q: Passing around a generic non-inherited class with reflection? Is there any way to pass around a generic class that could not be used as a base class? I've been searching for a while, and nothing of help. For example, I want to call a function getInstance(IClass) and it will find the correct (polymorphic) class instance for me. Thank you. A: This is not possible. It is a basic premise of object polymorphism, that a class can only have a single type (it defines "this".) It has no reflection capabilities at all. Great app and works like a dream. Love the new skins, the ability to toggle between nice clean read the DB and great albums, I recently found a few albums that I was unable to find on the old DB and they were missing from the DB but present on the iOS app. Excellent update to an excellent app. Excellent update to an excellent app. My only complaint is when I try to add a song and it won't allow me to do so. Anyways, I'd give this app 10/5 stars. 5 Votes Good but not great Great app but still has room for improvement After the last update I lost all my ratings so I'm starting from scratch. It's an excelent app but there are so many things that could be improved. For example if you try to add a song when you don't have enough space in your playlist, it simply removes the album and gives you the option to add it again (but it doesn't give you the possibility to add it to the playlist, you have to add it manually to your playlist again). Also if you add albums you don't like you can either keep the list for 10, 20, 50 or 100 days or a year. I choose 20 days so I can find albums I like faster but if you have a lot of albums you want to keep longer than this you'll have to move them outside the app. I'd love it if the rating would work like it should. Can you please add the ability to create another playlist for each day or do you have to create one for each album? It's so weird, I couldn't find my right album which I haven't downloaded on this app for a while and I couldn't find it because the notification said it was released today.
